With only a few weeks to go until the Infrastructure Industry Foundation (IIF) fundraising gala dinner in London – and a handful of tables yet to be filled – organisers are hoping to repeat last year’s success.

This year’s IIF event is being hosted at The Brewery on Chiswell Street on the evening of Thursday 21 September (2023) and – if all goes to plan – it will raise more than last year’s stellar £480,000 to support an excellent cause.

These funds will be used to develop an industry-wide social mobility programme and the IIF’s ambition is to create an overarching social mobility initiative within the infrastructure industry providing opportunities for young people from all walks of life.

It was set up to unite the sector in donating funds to worthy charitable causes close to the industry’s heart with the ambition of having a lasting positive impact on a broader scale.

A wide range of peers supporting the event include:

- Infracapital
- Stonepeak
- KKR & Co
- EQT
- GIP
- Goldman Sachs
- PwC
- iCON

A handful of tables remain, so to secure your places and support a worthy cause, get in touch at info@infrafoundation.co.uk for further details and to ensure you don’t miss out on what will no doubt be another great night!
